

KG Legal Kiełtyka Gładkowski – business law and new technologies law firm

KG Legal Kiełtyka Gładkowski is a modern law firm based in Poland, specializing in providing legal services to entities operating in an international environment, particularly at the intersection of law, business, and new technologies. Our mission is to support clients in the dynamically changing legal and economic environment, with a particular emphasis on cross-border projects and innovative business models.

Our firm focuses on comprehensive business services, from ongoing legal advice, through negotiation and contract drafting, to representation in court and arbitration disputes. Our strategic approach distinguishes us – we analyze not only legal aspects but also business and operational aspects to ensure that the proposed solutions are practical and effective.

Our main specializations include:

- economic and commercial law, including services for companies and corporate structures,
- new technologies law (IT/Tech), including regulations regarding digital services and products,
- intellectual property (IP), in particular the protection of know-how, trademarks and technology,
- contract law and contract negotiations in international relations,
- commercial disputes, including the pursuit of claims in cross-border cases,
- investment projects and consulting for startups and technology entities,
- compliance and sectoral regulations related to innovation and regulated markets.

ISTART1

A particular area of our practice is international matters. We support clients in relations between Europe, Asia, and the United States, conducting projects requiring knowledge of different legal systems, business cultures, and negotiation practices.

Approach to clients and projects

At KG Legal KIEŁTYKA GŁADKOWSKI, we prioritize long-term relationships and understanding our clients' businesses. We act as a partner who not only responds to problems but also helps prevent them. Our experience includes working with manufacturing companies, technology companies, startups, and entities expanding internationally.

In practice, this means that:

- we analyze legal risks in the context of real business decisions,
- we support clients in negotiations with foreign partners,
- we help build secure and scalable business models,

- we represent clients in disputes, taking care of their economic interests.

Development and directions of activity

The firm is dynamically developing its expertise in the areas of new technologies and cross-border projects. We place particular emphasis on developing practices related to technology transfer, commercialization of innovation, and intellectual property protection in an international environment.

An integral part of our business is the iStart1 initiative, implemented in the United States. iStart1 focuses on providing advice on:

- technology transfer between Europe and the USA,
- commercialization of innovative solutions,
- intellectual property protection,
- valuation of technological assets,
- support for transactions and investment projects.

Thanks to this initiative, we are able to offer clients real support in international projects and combine European and American perspectives in the field of law and business.

Student internships – invitation to cooperation

Due to the expansion of our law firm, we are looking for students interested in gaining practical professional experience through student internships.

We especially invite students of the following fields:

- law,
- new technologies / IT,
- intellectual property,
- administration.

We are looking for people who are available, committed and interested in working in an international environment.

We offer:

- participation in actual legal projects, including cross-border cases,
- the opportunity to work on documents and analyses regarding new technology and business law,
- gaining experience in communicating with foreign clients,
- development of practical legal skills.

An internship at KG Legal KIEŁTYKA GŁADKOWSKI offers more than just observation, but also real involvement in projects that have business implications. We offer the opportunity to learn about the workings of a law firm from the inside and gain experience that can provide a solid foundation for your future professional career.

Why is it worth joining us?

- we work on international projects and cases,

- we combine law with business and technology,
- we focus on a practical approach and development of competences,
- we offer the opportunity to learn in a challenging but supportive environment.

If you want to develop in the area of business law, new technologies, and international projects, we invite you to cooperate.
